About Us

International Animal Health (IAH) is a family-owned and operated Australian company dedicated to improving the health and performance of animals across companion, equine and livestock sectors. For decades, customers have relied on IAH for quality, continuity and practical products that work.

Our Facilities

All formulation and production occur on-site at our APVMA GMP-licensed facility, enabling tight control over raw materials, validation, batch consistency and fulfilment. This in-house capability means retailers, feedmills and producers can depend on reliable supply and consistent quality.

Solutions Through Innovation

Our philosophy is innovation through science. We invest in Research & Development and field validation so every innovation is evidence-based, scalable and cost-effective in real operations - from small farms to national herds.

In parallel, we've led the development of natural and biological solutions that reduce re-infection pressure, support gut function and help customers move towards sustainable productivity without compromising performance.

Whether you're an animal owner, a store stocking our brands, a feedmill partner or a large commercial farm, IAH is committed to practical support, technical guidance and products that grow animals better.
